

Bakery Workers Expelled by the AFL-CIO Union

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council today voted to expel the bakery workers union this week unless cleanup moves are made in the alleged corruption tainted union by noon Thursday.

The ultimatum follows through on action by the AFL-CIO convention yesterday conditionally expelling the bakery workers.

The Executive Council was empowered to effect the expulsion not later than March 15 if the Bakery Union failed to comply.

Directives include a demand that James G. Cross step down as president. Cross has repeatedly refused to do so and has said he will run for re-election at a special convention in Cincinnati March 15.

AFL-CIO President George Meany announced the Executive Council action to convention delegates.

Meany said the Executive Council will charter a new union within the federation. A segment of 53 locals, with a membership of 50,000, plans to ask for a charter if the Bakery Union is expelled.

Meany said the Executive Council had invited the Bakery Union to meet with it this morning but the Bakery officials failed to show.

Reached at the airport before he left the city, Cross said: "Meany's action creating a dual union in our jurisdiction, and the results thereof will be his responsibility."

Cross accused Meany of willful distortion of the facts in a speech before the convention yesterday and in remarks Meany made this morning.

Blasting Cross as corrupt, Meany indicated the expulsion request would be canceled, the union kicked out and a reform, "integrity group" of the bakers chartered as a new, clean Bakery Workers Union.

"The 'integrity' group, claiming to represent about 100 local unions in cities across the nation with some 50,000 members, or more than a third of the Bakery Union, has had delegates here a week drafting a constitution and otherwise getting ready to establish a new union."

Meany condemned Cross in a blunt, tough speech. He detailed testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington that Cross had accepted expensive cars bought with union funds, had used union money to finance lavish homes in Washington and Florida.

Shooting Accident Fatal to Youth

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—Thurston Lee Robinson, 13-year-old Negro, was killed Sunday at the Ferguson community when he was struck in the face by a shotgun blast, Deputy Sheriff Mack Pell said today.

Pell said John L. Douglas was showing the weapon to several companions when it discharged accidentally. No charge was filed.

Cold Plunges Southward Out of Canada

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mass of cold air plunged southward out of Canada into the northern Plains today, bringing cold wave warnings and forecasts of zero temperatures.

Snow flurries accompanied the chilly invasion along Northern border states, but amounts were generally on the light side.

Skies were generally clear in the far Southwest and eastward to the Gulf Coast, while in the far Northwest there was considerable fog and low clouds in some sections with freezing drizzle accompanying the fog in southeastern Idaho.

The southward pushing cold air stirred up gusts of 40 to 50 m.p.h. and churned dust clouds in parts of North Dakota. Snowfall associated with the chilly air movement ranged from an inch at several stations along the northern Great Lakes to 8 inches at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., also on the Lakes.

Early morning temperatures in the northern Plains were as much as 30 degrees colder than daytime readings yesterday. The mercury fell from a record-breaking 69 degrees at Billings, Mont., to well below freezing.

Indonesia Is Badly Split by Commies

By MURRAY FROMSON

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Beset by threats of bankruptcy and political chaos, Indonesia has now been clearly divided into Communist and anti-Communist camps.

Responsible sources just returned from Jakarta say that for the second time since 1948, the Communists are in a position to envelop the country in civil war.

Although the Reds failed in the abortive Maduin rebellion nine years ago, there is no certainty that they would fail again—at least on Java. The sources say the best guess throughout most of Indonesia is that the Communists could seize control of much of Java now—but they won't.

The reason is simple. They would face isolation because the islands of Sumatra, Borneo, the Celebes and the rest of East Indonesia are prepared to establish a separate Indonesian government the moment the Communists grab power in Java.

Col. Maludin Simbolon, the articulate rebel who now directs a solidifying command of the Outer Islands from his Sumatran headquarters in Padang, told visiting correspondents:

"This is no longer a revolt to gain autonomy. This is a fight to preserve our freedom and stop communism. The minute the Communists seem to be in control of Java or the central government abandons its neutral foreign policy and invites Soviet or Chinese technicians into the country, we will establish an independent free government of Indonesia and ask for United Nations recognition."

Florida Land Boom Has Leaped to the Bahamas

By HAL BOYLE

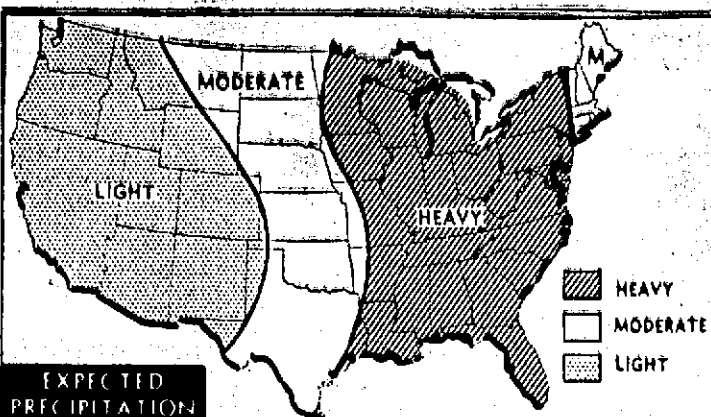

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Leaves from a sun-tanned notebook:

The Florida land boom has leaped the Gulf Stream and landed in the Bahamas.

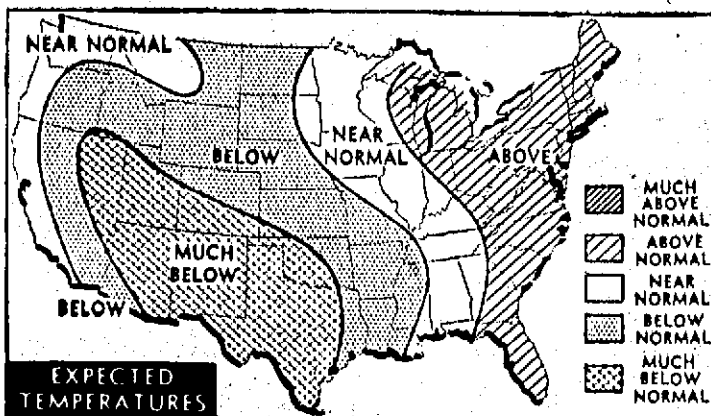

A tidal flood of tourists and foreign investment capital has created the greatest wave of prosperity in these islands since Christopher Columbus discovered them in 1492.

The Bahamas have known booms before—from pirate raids, Civil War blockade running, rum runners during prohibition, and from sponge fishing. But never a boom such as this one.

Nine hotels have been built here in the past four years. Commercial land values in Nassau, the Precipitation is expected to exceed normal east of the Mississippi except for near normal amounts in New England. Sub-normal precipitation is indicated west of the Continental Divide. Near normal amounts are expected elsewhere.

Temperatures from now until January are expected to average above seasonal normals east of the Appalachians and also in the Great Lakes Region. Below normal temperatures are expected to prevail west of the Mississippi River except for near normal along the West Coast and the northern border. In unspecified areas near normal is predicted.

Students at Paisley to Entertain PTA

The children of Paisley will present the Christmas program at the regular PTA meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. Every child in the school will participate in the program, "Three Basic Ideas for Christmas." A time for fun, a time for Lullabies and time for Worship. Miss Martha Sutton, principal, said the children will be accompanied by the Paisley Teachers College will direct the music.

Among Christmas favorites to be heard will be, "Look Out Santa Claus, Doll Lullaby, Jingle Bells, Up on the Housetop, Frosty the Snowman, Santa Claus Is Coming to Town, A Visit From St. Nick, Braams Lullaby, Away in a Manger, O Come All Ye Faithful, It Came Upon the Midnight Clear, O Little Town of Bethlehem, Silent Night, and Joy to the World."

Neil Barwick, Tommy Parris, Preston Hargis, Gary Don Jones, Preston McLean, Rodney Powell, Coy Yates James Tillie, Brenda Parris, Betty Martindale, will portray "The Holy Tableau."

The Bethlehem background was drawn by Gary Don Jones, Anette Hatfield, Ann Wallon, Julia Ellis, Charles Beard, and Mary Ann Bader.

Charles Beard and Nora Joan Kinsey will be narrators and prompters. Donald Martin will be stage manager.

NAACP Ask Ruling on Bennett Law

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The National Association to Advance the Advancement of Colored People has requested a federal court hearing Dec. 19 on a motion to block enforcement of the so-called "Bennett ordinance" in North Little Rock.

A similar hearing on a Little Rock ordinance resulted in an agreement under which the NAACP agreed to await the outcome of a similar state court case and the city agreed not to prosecute daily violations.

North Little Rock City Atty. Reed Thompson said that a similar agreement may be reached in North Little Rock.

The ordinance requires that organizations furnish names of officers and financial data to determine if they are subject to privilege taxes.

City to Revise Improvement Dist. Setup

The City Board of Directors discussed an old headache involving improvement districts last night and a complete revision is in the making.

Banks are calling in loans on six local districts involving some $7,194. As these loans are endorsed by the city a complete re-financing with the city assuming direct obligation was ordered by the board.

The delinquent districts as well as others will be brought up to date and a regular payment schedule set up. Then property owners must meet their obligation on schedule.

Two officers were added to the City Police force—Hollis Edgar Moses as a patrolman and Junior May as parking meter officer.

In other action the group granted loading space to Singer Sewing Machine Co. and Rettig Electrical Shop, but ordered a complete reappraisal of the loading zone setup.

Industrial Fund Reaches $30,000

The Hempstead County Industrial Foundation fund jumped to a total of $30,000 today on tabulation of the third report, it was announced by B. N. Holt, secretary-treasurer.

Two firms voluntarily hiked their amounts from the figure which was originally assessed. They were the Ralph Montgomery Grocery and Moore Bros. Grocery.

Eula's Grocery 350.00 W. A. Williams Grocery 300.00

C. H. Moxley Grocery 300.00 Total to date $30,000.00

A total of 20 firms and individuals have been reported and the average thus far is slightly above $1,000 each. Goal of the campaign is $250,000.

Man Hangs Self in Jail at Sheridan

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP)—A 39-year-old man hanged himself with his belt in a jail cell here yesterday, Coroner Russell Newby reported.

The coroner said Kenneth Markins, a cafe operator, was left alone in the cell while Marshal Rupert Dorch went for a physician to examine him.

Markins was taken to the jail after Mrs. Markins asked Dorch to see about having her husband committed to a Veterans Administration hospital, Newby said.

Dulles Declares NATO Must Get Set for Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the North Atlantic allies must be prepared to meet more adequately the challenge of both military and economic warfare in the future.

By WARREN ROGERS JR., WASHINGTON (AP)—A news conference today gave Secretary of State Dulles a forum to defend the administration's plan for strengthening the North Atlantic Alliance to cope with Soviet military-scientific-economic advances.

The secretary arranged to meet with newsmen two days before his expected departure for the NATO summit conference opening in Paris next Monday. President Eisenhower will learn from his doctors later today whether he is fit enough to make the trip.

The Eisenhower administration has been keeping a secret the specific proposals it has worked up to give new strength in NATO. However, the general outlines have become known.

Democratic critics have argued that the proposals do not go far enough. The main purpose of the Eisenhower program is to increase unity among the 15 NATO nations and to share on a greater scale the responsibility for maintaining a missile-atomic era defense Russia.

School Bus Drivers Hold Safety Meet

County School Supervisor, E. R. Brown, reported that the school bus drivers of Hempstead County were in a safety meeting today at Yerger High School. The discussion was led by J. L. Edison, Supervisor of School Transportation, State Department of Education, Little Rock.

Mr. Edison discussed Act 356 of 1953. This Act is known as the "Arkansas School Bus Stop Law."

The law in part, is as follows: "When any 'School Bus' vehicle stops, every operator of a motor vehicle or motorcycle, approaching the same from any direction, shall bring such motor vehicle or motorcycle to a full stop before proceeding in any direction; and in event such 'School Bus' vehicle is receiving and/or discharging passengers, the said operator of such motor vehicle or motorcycle shall not start up or attempt to pass in any direction until the said 'School Bus' vehicle has finished receiving and/or discharging passengers."

The following school bus drivers were present for the meeting:

Hope School District No. 1-A
W. B. Ruggles, Otis Breed, David Stroud, D. B. Phillips, R. E. O'well, John Coleman, Willie Knox, Willie Davis, Fred Knox, Theo Johnson, Glenn Calhoun, Joseph Coleman and Clyde Sanders.

Boy Accidentally Shot Hunting

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A 15-year-old Negro boy was accidentally killed late yesterday while hunting rabbits five miles east of here.

Acting Coroner Jim Stoball said Aaron Johnson was fatally shot by a 20 gauge shotgun while hunting with three companions.

The coroner quoted the victim's brother-in-law, Fred Reeves, as saying he was preparing to shoot a rabbit and the shotgun discharged accidentally.

Hope's Board of Directors will have to call a special election within 60 days to name a board member to replace the late Roy Thrash... action on the matter will probably be taken up at the

Dutch Moving Citizens From Indonesia

By JAMES WILDE
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A British plane was scheduled to leave Jakarta tonight with the vanguard of thousands of Dutchmen fleeing Indonesia.

Dutch evacuees poured into Jakarta from Bandung, Bogor, Senenrang, Sumatra and other points in the Indies. Although cheerful, all showed the strain of leaving their homes, jobs and belongings for an uncertain future. But most said they were anxious to leave as soon as possible.

Indonesia has demanded that all Dutch citizens except skilled technicians leave the country. Many of them are Eurasians who have lived all their lives in the Indies.

Some 46,000 Dutch citizens still live in Indonesia, but there has been no definite estimate how many will be forced out or will demand to leave. The Indonesians want all those whose skills are useful to the country to remain. If all pull out, the country's economy faces a breakdown from lack of skilled personnel.

Simple Rules Can Prevent Many Fires

Last week the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer White, near McCaskill, was almost destroyed by a grass fire which started from Mrs. White's washpot. During the next few weeks many acres of meadow, pastures and woods may be destroyed by fires which have been started in similar ways, says Buster A. Denton, Forester.

People trying to burn grass and debris, even leaves in the yard, should take notice that all grasses, leaves and straw are getting dried out and it will be very easy to start a bad fire.

"If Mrs. White had spent ten minutes in burning an area around her washpot, 40 acres of good grass meadow could have been saved. But most of us don't worry about a fire until it is too late," Mr. Denton said.

Just a few minutes in preparing to burn might save valuable property.

The following few simple rules, if observed, would prevent many wild fires:

1. Don't burn when the wind is blowing strong.
2. Plow, rake or burn a strip around the areas you want to burn.
3. Have some tools on hand to fight the fire with just in case they are needed.
4. These home tools are buckets of water, law sack, garden hoe or rake and shovel.
5. Notify your neighbors and also your nearest Forest Ranger if you have many acres of grass to burn—before you start to burn.

Arkansas Court Ruling Set Aside

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court, dividing 6-3, ruled yesterday that state courts could prohibit intimidation or coercion by strikers, and labor union representatives against non-strikers.

However, the high court found that Arkansas state courts went too far in barring peaceful picketing. The latter field, the Supreme Court said, is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board.

The decision applied specifically to a 955 injunction issued by the Cross County, Ark., Chancery Court against picketing by the AFL-CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers at a clothing plant operated by Rainfall Inc. in Wynne, Ark.

Justice Burton delivered the majority opinion on the Rainfall case, with Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black and Douglas concurring. The court ruled that the injunction was "injunction."

Bank Base Can Save Farmer Much Time

Farmers who intend to participate in the 1958 Acreage Reserve Program for spring-planted crops can save themselves time and trouble by having a Soil Bank "base" established for their farm as soon as possible. H. B. Gilbert, chairman of the Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, pointed out today.

Before an Acreage Reserve Agreement can be signed for any of these crops, a soil bank "base" must be established for the participating farm. Farmers who have not already done so should furnish their County ASC Committees with their farm's production history for Soil Bank base crops for 1950 and 1957.

Soil Bank base crops, in general, include all crops produced for harvest on a farm, except hay crops. In addition to the six "basic" crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice, tobacco, and peanuts—it also includes, among others, such crops as the grains, annual grasses cut for seed, oilseeds, cowpeas, potatoes, commercial vegetables and field and enacting pens and beans. The farm soil bank "base" is established by the County ASC Committee on the basis of the average of land devoted to these crops during the 2 years 1956 and 1957.

Where a farm already has a base established under the Conservation Reserve program of the Soil Bank, that base will apply for Acreage Reserve purposes, also.

Workers Idled, Yule Shopping at Standstill

NEW YORK (AP)—The worst transit foulup in New York history today hit millions of riders as the result of a subway maintenance strike. There was virtually no hope for a quick end.

Chaos and near pandemonium ensued as people struggled against overwhelming odds to get to work in Manhattan.

The subways—most vital lifelines of all transit facilities for these who travel into Manhattan daily to keep the city's business and industry operating—were running at only a fraction of normal schedules.

"Business life" was hard hit in many ways, and particularly from losses in Christmas sales.

Transit officials strove to keep some service going with non-striking and supervisory personnel, but it was far from adequate for the 4,700,000 daily riders on the trains.

The situation developed into a far worse mess than yesterday—the first day of the strike—when more motorists stayed away from work, and four other unions joined the walkout.

As a result, thousands of sweating, pushing, gasping riders battled to get on the few trains left in service from jammed station platforms. The crush was so great that it was almost impossible for some to get out at their proper stations.

Thousands of others sought other means of getting to work.

This led to tremendous jams on bus lines, commuter railroads and automobile thoroughfares leading into Manhattan.

There were no fatalities or injuries.

Mrs. Elsie White Entertains Wednesday Club

One of the first Christmas parties of the season was given by Mrs. Elsie White on Wednesday afternoon when she entertained the Wednesday Bridge Club. On the front door hung a wreath of pink magnolia. In the entrance hall a table held an arrangement of green magnolia leaves ornamented with Christmas balls and was illuminated by a large red candle. In the living room an arrangement of pink glittered magnolia leaves and berries interspersed with pastel ornaments was placed on the coffee table. Pink glittered leaves and pastel Christmas arrangements banked the mantel. Miniature silver reindeer and angels with a background of pink leaves and ornaments graced an antique table. A pink candle with a base of pink leaves and ornaments tied with silver ribbons on an antique chest completed the decorations. The high score award was won by Mrs. Dallas Atkins and the cut award by Mrs. Saxon Regan.

For the salad and dessert course Christmas balls tied with pink tulle centered the tables. Bridge guests were Mrs. Al Williams and Mrs. J. B. Franks. Mrs. J. D. Lee was a tea guest. Other members included Mrs. Guss McCaskill, Mrs. Basil Munn, Mrs. Jim Nelson and Mrs. Blain Hays.

Mrs. Cummings Honored

Mrs. N. R. Daniel honored Mrs. W. P. Cummings with a birthday dinner on Wednesday evening at her home.

The dining table was covered with a red cloth overlaid with red net and was draped at the corners with sprigs of holly. The center-

Meany said riddling, organized labor of corruption is a job that has to be done no matter how disagreeable. He said unionism is an instrument to serve workers and not to "build up the personal influence of any individual to make him a big shot or an expert on finance."

Many an American state might take a tip from the Bahamas on how to fight its way out of the doldrums. The islands emerged from the World War II in bad shape. They had no major industries, much unemployment.

The colony took stock of itself. Nothing but a wonderful climate, fine fishing and certain tax advantages. (It has no income tax, no death tax on real estate, and only a four per cent inheritance tax on personal property.)

The Nassau Development Board was formed to exploit these attractions, and it has done its task well. Only 32,000 tourists came here in 1949. This year the figure will be about 195,000.

"We estimate we will have 250,000 visitors annually by 1960," said a board spokesman.

Not all who come are pacifying tourists, anxious to buy low-priced French perfumes and gin at $2 a fifth. Some are wealthy American, English and European businessmen who have sought millions of dollars in resort ventures which they can leave, tax free, to their heirs. A number of large corporations, including several U. S. firms attracted by the special tax advantages, have centered their overseas operations here.

DOROTHY DIX

Mother's the Problem Instead of Daughter

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a girl 15 years old and I have a serious problem. I am constantly quarreling with my mother. She is always telling me that it's my fault that I never do what I am told, that I criticize her looks, and talk about her to my friends. When I take a walk with friends, she says I only look for boys. If I have a slight quarrel with a girl friend I'm always the one who started it. I don't smoke, curse, or go to hangouts, and I'm always in the house by 10.

I know I do things to get on her nerves, but now it's everything. Maybe it would be better if I didn't talk to her, only what's necessary. I'm not feeling sorry for myself and I don't want pity. I just want advice.

Marianne: Positions in your household are slightly reversed. Mom is the difficult one instead of the teenager, as is usually the case. Your mother is undoubtedly giving your father a hard time, too, so I guess you're not alone. Perhaps she's ill, worried or discouraged. Can you talk to her about it?

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a young man of 20, deeply in love with a divorcee of 19 who has a 3-month-old baby. I have a nice job, and go to school nights. I'm studying law, and my lifelong ambition is to be a successful lawyer. My friends say marriage will kill this effort to succeed. It will take longer, but I'm sure it will be worth it.

Dear Jay: If, at 20, you marry a girl with a ready-made family, you'll have plenty to work for, but small chance of studying law. Why not concentrate on your studies for another two or three years, then tackle matrimony.

man or wife is not to be found in this world. If this is the only fault your husband has, learn to live with it, keep a bottle of cleaning fluid handy and pressing cloth always ready for emergencies. Stop nagging. Don't let your marriage be wrecked on a spot of grease.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is a wonderful man in every respect — except one. He is very untidy about his clothes. He'll do any kind of dirty work in his best suit, and on the other hand, will wear working clothes to entertain friends. He gets mad if I speak to him about it.

MRS. A. Z.: Perfection in dress regularly.

California experiments show that some plants can grow without other water, if they have early morning dew regularly.

Woman Found Dead From Heart Attack

ENGLAND, Ark. (AP) — A 57-year-old Jefferson County woman was found dead late yesterday in a roadside ditch near her home at the County Line community. Dr. Frank Reo, coroner, said Mrs. Millie Baseue apparently suffered a heart attack Sunday and died of exposure. The body was found by the woman's daughter, Mrs. M. D. Powell of County Line.

"ALMOST, BUT NOT ENOUGH" is our verdict on how close competitive cars have come to matching the Swept-Wing 58. Take style. Other new cars are "almost" as low in inches, but still seem high and boxy in looks. Some of them are "almost" going to fine, but not enough to really make a difference. Then take performance. None of the other 1958 cars have anything to match the sway-free, dip-free, vibration-free ride of Torsion-Aire. (It's standard equipment.) Most of them still don't even have push-button driving! So after you've seen the "almost" cars, come in and drive a Swept-Wing 58. You'll see why we say: They're catching on, but they can't catch up.

HAND-PICKED for MURDER

By Robert Martin

CHAPTER XX

I followed Chief Campbell into the hall, leaving the door ajar. "What do you think?" the chief asked in a low voice. "Should I keep a man on him?"

I sighed. "Look, Chief, he's my responsibility. Whether I like it or not, I'll keep an eye on him."

"Good. He's in your hands. Bennett, I think you realize—"

"I realize," I said sharply. "Somebody, somewhere, wants Howell dead."

He waved a hand wearily and his tall form disappeared down the stairs. I went back into the room. Howell, who was still sitting on the bed, looked up at me and said pleadingly, "Bennett, I need a drink — bad. There's some whisky in my room."

"It'll do you good," I said down orders. "I picked up the phone, called the desk and asked that a bottle of rye be sent up, along with a pot of black coffee and some buttered toast."

"Skip the coffee and toast," Howell said. "Just the rye."

"It'll do you good," I said down orders. "Now listen; don't leave this room unless I'm with you. Keep your door locked. I'm responsible for you — at least for today. You heard what Chief Campbell said, and I agree. Getting your rooms mixed last night saved your life."

"Bennett," he said, "I'm scared."

"You can't run away from it," I said, and added, "by the way, I verified your sons marriage. The bank has a photostat of the certificate. They also verified the $200 a month for you."

He didn't speak for a moment. Then he said in a dull voice, "That's what I expected, peanuts."

"I'm sorry."

"My son, he—" His voice broke, and he wiped his lips with a heavy palm. "He's turned against me — because of that — that woman."

"That woman is now Mrs. Howell," I said. "Maybe you had it coming."

There came a knock on the door. I got up and admitted the white-coated youth. He placed a tray on top of the dresser and handed me a check. I signed it and tipped the youth. Before he was out of the room Howell had gotten up, lifted a napkin from the tray and was opening the whisky bottle. He took a long swallow, sighed gustily, and then drank again.

I said, "I'm checking on the woman your son married. I should have some information today."

He fumbled in a trouser pocket. "How much do I owe you?"

"You'll get a bill," I told him, and added, gently, "I hope you can pay it."

He muttered something I didn't catch and lifted the bottle again. I stepped forward and took it from him. "Eat," I said firmly. "I'll take the bottle with me."

He peered up at me with a hurt, pleading expression, like a baby deprived of his milk. Then he said in a low voice, "Maybe you're right — about getting what I deserved from Wayne. I — I guess I was never a good father to him. But his mother raised him and turned him against me. Maybe it was my fault. I — I wish I could go back 10 years and start over again." He looked up at me, and for the first time I saw in his eyes an expression of sober intelligence, mingled with a kind of latent sadness, and once more I felt pity for him. It was odd.

"I'm afraid it's too late now, Mr. Howell," I touched his shoulder. "I'll get you some aspirin and when I come back I want that toast and coffee to be gone."

I smiled at him.

"All right," he said, and added almost shyly, "Thanks." He looked away then and was capping the bottle as I left the room.

Down in the lobby I bought a small tin of aspirin tablets, chatted with the desk clerk for a few minutes, decided. I needed some cigarettes and bought some, and then returned to Hugo Howell. He was standing by the dresser peering intently at his reflection in the mirror, but turned as I entered. I saw that most of the toast was gone and that the coffee cup was empty.

I handed him two aspirins and got a glass of water from the bathroom. He swallowed the tablets meekly and without protest, but his gaze strayed to the bottle which he'd left on the chair.

I picked up the bottle. "You can have another drink later. Lock your door and don't open it for anyone but me." I placed the bottle on the dresser. "See, I'm trusting you. I'll be in my room around noon. Right now you'd better lie down and rest."

"I do feel kind of lickered out," He gave me a smile that, for him, was almost friendly. "Bennett, you're mithering me like a — a hen with chicks."

"Somebody has to," I said, thinking of the murdered Ambrose Lott. I also thought, somewhat grimly and sadly, that I was probably the only person in the world who cared what happened to Hugo Howell. And even I was being paid to care — if I got paid.

He came to the door with me and when I was out in the hall I waited until I heard the lock click. Then I went to my own room, called the desk and asked if there had been any calls for me. There had. One. I was to call Operator 42 in Detroit.

"Get it for me, please," I hung up and waited. In maybe three minutes the phone rang and I was talking to Lew Hancock.

He told me plenty.

Gag Strands Students of Texas U.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two University of Texas students apparently believe that the gag wasn't carried too far—even though it took them 700 miles from home.

"It was a good gag and we'll have to go along with it," said Bob Smith of Amarillo.

A group of revenge-minded pledges pulled off an interstate scheme that left Smith and Joe Binford of Dallas stranded in east Tennessee.

Smith said that he was on the steps of a sorority house bidding goodnight to his date Friday night when a group of Beta Theta Pi pledges descended on him. Across the campus, another group cornered Binford.

The pledges, who usually are on the receiving end of college pranks, hustled their victims into cars and drove them away. When they alighted, they were in Arkadelphia, Ark.

"They had arranged to meet pledges from our chapter at the University of the South (at Sewanee, Tenn.)," said Smith. "The stop was to exchange prisoners."

The Texas pledges took a Tennessee fraternity man back to Texas and the Tennessee youths took Binford and Smith on the second lap of their journey.

Smith and Binford were freed at midnight Saturday on a highway east of Memphis—sans identification and money. Binford had concealed a dollar in his sock but that went for coffee during the night.

They finally arrived here yesterday morning and Mrs. Eleanor Cook, a cousin of Binford's, staked them to tickets to Austin. They pulled out at 12:30 a. m. today.

Both promised revenge but they could not conceal their admiration for the clever execution of the prank.

"They had it planned to perfection," said Smith.

"I wish we had thought of it when we were pledges," said Binford.

Child 7, Is Missing, Search Underway

SEYCAMORE, Ill. (AP) — Some 500 persons from Sycamore and nearby communities yesterday searched the area of the Fox River bottomlands for Maria Ridolph, 7, missing from her home since last Tuesday and believed kidnapped.

Police Chief William Hindenburg directed the searching party through several miles in the area north of Sheridan, the site of the Illinois Industrial School for boys, about 35 miles south of Sycamore.

The hunt was extended far from the scene of Maria's disappearance because of theories that a kidnaper, if she was kidnapped, might have left the body in the Fox River bottomlands, one of the state's most rugged areas.

About a dozen articles of clothing were found by searchers and turned over to FBI agents who are investigating the disappearance of Maria last Tuesday evening. She was last seen with a strong young man.

Germany May Pull Out as NATO Member

By RICHARD O'REGAN FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Proposals to take West Germany out of NATO and neutralize her militarily are gaining ground in the Bon republic.

"There is no doubt that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano will go to the NATO summit conference next week determined to stick by the West and work for closer anti-Soviet defense.

The majority of West Germans still seem to be going along with the government's policy, but more of them than ever before are questioning whether Adenauer is right.

For many years after the war, the average West German had few belongings and little personal security. There wasn't any question about his supporting the West.

Now he is prosperous but he's more worried about the future than at any time in 13 years.

With the summit conference to strengthen NATO defenses only a week away, such questions as these have become major political topics.

Wouldn't the country perhaps be safer if it were neutral? Or would that be committing national suicide? Should Washington and Moscow get together for direct negotiations? Or would that mean that decisions regarding Germany's fate would be taken without her having a say?

Adenauer has led the nation consistently along the path of firm support for NATO as defense against the Russians. But Adenauer's position has been badly shaken lately.

First there was Sputnik and an uneasy feeling that the Russians

Missouri in Defense of Grid Program

COLUMBIA (AP) — The University of Missouri quickly set in motion machinery to find a replacement for Frank Broyles, head football coach, who resigned unexpectedly Saturday to become coach of the Arkansas Porkers.

Athletic Director Don Faurot and Professor Arthur Nebel, chairman of the athletic committee expressed hope that the athletic mittee can meet this week to screen the first of the candidates.

The two conferred with President Elmer Ellis today.

Dr. Ellis said it was an understatement "that we are surprised and greatly disappointed" with Broyles' resignation.

He added that the university has not lost confidence in Missouri high school graduates or the character of their athletic program.

"We do not doubt our ability to find the best coaching talent in the nation anxious to help or develop teams of which the state will be proud," he said.

"We will redouble our efforts to bring the university the best Missouri athletes who, with such outstanding athletes as approve our educational program, want to come with us.

"I am confident that we will not only succeed in giving these young men the best education available to them, but also will succeed in giving them a winning experience in intercollegiate sports that will make them proud that they came to Missouri.

Seems They Die Fast in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia reported today that caretakers and gravediggers at Moscow cemeteries have been taking bribes to find space for the dead.

"The government newspaper said two cemetery directors have been convicted, five others arrested and 20 dismissed for demanding and accepting bribes from grieving relatives. Space is at a premium in the city's graveyards.

Izvestia cited the case of a grandmother who paid 100 rubles to arrange for burial of her granddaughter. Another woman paid 200 rubles to have a fence built around a grave, Izvestia said, and the fence was provided by "hoodlums" who tore it from another grave.

It appeared to be more a possibility than a probability, but pressure to end the special session Saturday as scheduled could bring it about. Here's the way it would work:

The House, reconvening at 2 a. m., could quickly vote down a scheduled motion to reconsider its 112-11 vote Friday approving a bill requiring blood tests, a three-day waiting period, and setting minimum ages for marrying.

A messenger then could trot to the other end of the capital in time to have the bill waiting when the Senate meets at 2:30 p. m. with marriage legislation as a special order of business.

although already just across the East-West border, were nearer than before. Then came Eisenhower's latest illness on top of what looked to the Germans like a long history of wavering U. S. policy.

Finally there were the proposals of George F. Kennan, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow. They have touched off the hottest debate in years. Newspapers have been filled for two weeks with discussions pro and con.

In a series of lectures in London, Kennan called for a reappraisal of Western policies toward Germany and Russia.

Will Talk Over Accident Toll

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus and State Police Director Herman Lindsey will confer today on a plan to curtail Arkansas' rising highway fatality toll.

Faubus scheduled the meeting Saturday, saying he was "shocked" by recent reports of a sudden increase in fatal accidents. He said the full force of the expanded State Police would be thrown behind a stepped-up highway safety program.

The governor said he planned to initiate such a program early next year but that he was spurred to immediate action by "many tragic reports of accidents in the past few days."

The governor did not cite specific examples, but State Police records show that six persons died in an accident near Corning on Thanksgiving Day. Five were fatally injured in one accident near Barling Nov. 30, a day when the total killed in the
